It's summertime again, which means no school, sleeping till late, reading and playing all day, and most importantly – it's best friend time! Khayla-la Bookie can hardly sleep because nothing is more exciting than when your best friend in the whole wide world comes to visit for the entire summer! But the night before the arrival, Khayla's mommy tells her that Gabby is not her best friend but her first cousin. Khayla is so nervous that they can't be best friends anymore.

LaLa and Gabby skate and ride bikes like best friends. They hoo-la-hoop like best friends. They even make bubble crowns in the bathtub like best friends.

Will Khayla ever figure out what makes Gabby her first cousin? Are they still going to be best friends? Will they still have the same kind of fun now that they are first cousins?

Cousin to cousin we'll always be,
special friends from the same family tree!
Who is your first best cousin friend?

About the Author - Lynn C. Page

Lynn C. Page is an entrepreneur, author, creative illustrator, and bubblegum aficionado, based in Houston, Texas. She is a graduate of Texas Southern University and has published children's books, workbooks, and coloring books (eleven in total thus far). She has also coached and worked one-on-one with hundreds of self-published authors and small business owners. When she's not writing, you can find her planning something outstanding, watching a sci-fi movie, or plotting her next project!

Key Selling Points:

- Hot topic (family relationships and education)
- Appealing topic (can learn how to refer to your family relationships; understand the meaning of confusing words;)
- Promotes asking questions. LaLa was confused and frightened to ask questions about words she didn't understand. Gabby shows it's okay to ask questions.

Readership:

- Children 7+
- Also enjoyable and appealing for parents who read out loud to their children.
